KIDNAPED TURFMAN RETURNED SAFELY SHOOT GUARD DURING MICHIGAN PEN RIOTS

DENIES RANSOM WAS PAID FOR RELEASE; SEARCH FOR CAPONE

Roche Thinks Gang Chief Knows About Kidnaping Case

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—John R. "Jack" Lynch, wealthy turfman who was kidnaped and held for a king's ransom, came back home today.

His haggard face revealing the strain he has been under during his week of imprisonment, the sporting man drove up to his spacious mansion on Lake Geneva a few hours after dawn.

Lynch insisted Al Capone had nothing to do with the kidnaping. The gang chief, who had offered his services to aid in locating the gambler's abductors, today was missing from his usual haunts.

Raid, ordered by Pat Roche, chief investigator for the state's attorney's office, because of alleged "double crossing" in connection with the search for the kidnapers, revealed that Capone had disappeared from his hotel here. It had been reported the gambler had helped to arrange freeing Lynch for $50,000.

Lynch denied reports that $50,000 had been paid for his release. Originally, the abductors—who were sought by the star detectives of Chicago and southern Wisconsin, as well as by Capone henchmen—had set their demands at $250,000.

This was one of the largest ransoms ever asked by the kidnapers. The turfman declared the abductors had treated him well. About midnight last night, he said, they took him out in a car, transferred him to his own car, warned him not to remove the blindfold for ten

MCSWEENEY BEGINS PROBE OF EVICTION CHARGE AT POMEROY

Inhuman Treatment Is Subject Of State Investigation

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27.—Promising swift action, State Welfare Director John McSweeney announced today that his investigation of reported inhuman administration of justice in Meigs County will be started tomorrow or Saturday.

Soon after his arrival in Pomeroey he will question Common Pleas Judge C. E. Peoples, who recently was accused of failing to prevent the forcible eviction from her home of a miner's wife, who, according to physicians, was too ill to be moved.

Among others who will be questioned at once after he arrives, McSweeney said, will be Prosecuting Attorney C. W. Clark, and Justice E. R. Titus.

Several others also will be called in immediately in an attempt to get an unbiased and unprejudiced account of the eviction of Mrs. Charles Williams, 40, wife of a Hobson, O. miner, by deputies from the justice court.

The possibility that McSweeney will be authorized by Governor George White to subpoena anybody he wishes to question was suggested by the director today, but he doubted whether that power would be granted him. He indicated he believed most of the persons to whom he wants to talk will answer all his questions voluntarily.

Although suffering from an abdominal tumor, Mrs. Williams was forcibly removed from the dwelling provided by mine operators and left out in the hot sun, according to charges made to Governor White by Dr. H. L. Cray, Pomeroey, and C. F. Higgins, Gallipolis attorney.

FIFTY-TWO MORE SUSPECTS ARE ARRESTED IN GOTHAM CLEAN-UP

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Fifty-two suspects, two of them former members of the Jack Diamond gang driven down from the Catskills, and one a 54-year-old habitual criminal sought since 1927 for a stabbing committed just after he had been paroled from Sing Sing, were gathered in by the police last night in the war on crime.

Lindbergh To Receive Decoration Of Merit From Hands Of Emperor Of Japan

Elaborate Honors Are Paid Americans In Capital

TOKYO, Aug. 27.—In recognition of his various aerial achievements and his latest flight from New York to Tokyo, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will receive a decoration of merit from the hands of Emperor Hirohito of Japan, it was learned by International News Service today.

Col. Lindbergh will be the first American to receive a decoration personally conferred by the present emperor.

Plans for the presentation are virtually complete, and the honor will be conferred in a short time.

Col. Lindbergh will speak over the radio to the United States between 7:30 and 8:10 a. m. tomorrow. The broadcast will begin with a speech of welcome by Matsujiro Kozumi, minister of communications, and Col. Lindbergh then will deliver a short address. The Japanese army band will play a number of selections.

Col. Lindbergh will attend a reception at the Tokyo Club tomorrow afternoon tendered by the American community in Tokyo. United States Ambassador William Cameron Forbes will act as official host.

Accompanied by representatives of the Japanese government, Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh, who yesterday received one of the most tumultuous welcomes ever accorded to foreigners by this city, today visited the shrine of the famous Emperor Meiji and the Yasukuni shrine, dedicated to the heroes of the Russo-Japanese war.

After paying their respects to the memories of the "departed spirits," the Lindberghs returned to the home of Dr. Rudolph B. Teusler, head physician of St. Luke's International Hospital, where they are guests.

There they perused the English-language newspapers, telegrams of congratulation and hundreds of invitations.

Later Lindbergh took the train for Kasumigaura naval airbase to look over his plane.

The famous flyers were to rest tonight. Tomorrow they will face a program of entertainment already taking up twenty days of their proposed month's stay in Japan.

At least 100,000 people lined Hirohito Blvd. to see the flyers as they arrived from Yueno Station, where they arrived from Kasumigaura airport, to Dr. Teusler's residence. Frenzied "banzais" (hurrahs) greeted them all along the two-and-a-half mile route and more than once the crowd broke through the police cordon.

With the couple was W. Cameron Forbes, American ambassador, while Edwin L. Neville, counselor to the embassy, Mrs. Neville and Mrs. James Russell, embassy hostesses, followed in another automobile.

PARTIES TO DIVIDE CIGARET TAX JOBS

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27.—Although a Democrat occupies the governor's chair, Democrats will be prevented from naming more than half the forty-eight new cigarette tax inspectors from their party, it was learned here today.

The two Republicans and two Democrats on the bipartisan tax commission have agreed to divide the jobs equally, resulting in the appointment of twenty-four Democrats and twenty-four Republicans, it was reported by a member of the tax commission.

Names of the newly-appointed inspectors, who will commence work Tuesday, the day that the new law, levying an excise tax of one cent on every ten cigarettes, becomes effective, were expected to be announced today or tomorrow.

NYE COMMITTEE IS UNTANGLING PUZZLING FINANCES OF BISHOP

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—The bewildering banking activities of Bishop James Cannon, St. Louis, who headed the anti-Smith Democratic movement in the 1928 campaign today presented a puzzle of finance which the Nye Campaign fund committee sought to strip of mystery.

Two members of the committee, Senators Nye (R) of North Dakota and Dill (D) of Washington, charged the bishop had diverted campaign donations to his personal accounts. This was significant as the Methodist Episcopal, South, bishop has failed to account for $43,000 of a $65,300 donation by E. C. Jameson, New York capitalist, in 1928 to support the fight against Alfred E. Smith in the South.

The committee members were amazed by bankers' reports on the devious methods followed by Cannon in handling the political donations. Funds, given him for use in the anti-Smith campaign, would be deposited in one bank, a check drawn on that account and paid into a Cannon account in another bank, followed by another transaction which dropped the political moneys into some obscure Virginia bank to the bishop's personal account, it was testified.

One such transaction involved an $8,000 political donation by Jameson. It was illustrative of many others. In October, 1928, Jameson used his personal check to obtain an $8,000 cashier's check from the Lawyer's Trust Company in New York City. He sent this cashier's check to Cannon, who informed the First National Bank in the little town of Blackstone, Va., he desired a certificate of deposit, drawing 3 per cent interest, on some funds he held in trust for the "Newspaper Supply Co. of Richmond." This company's charter had been revoked nine years before.

The bank gave Cannon this certificate and the bishop paid for it with the $8,000 cashier's check sent him by Jameson. The certificate matured on February 3, 1929, with $70.67 in accrued interest. Cannon took the check of the Blackstone Bank and ten days later deposited it in the village bank at Crews, Va., as the executor for Mrs. Mary C. Moore, who had been dead five years, bankers told the committee. In October, 1929, a year after he had received the Jameson donation, he closed the "executor account" and transferred the money to his personal savings account in the same little bank.

The tracing of this single donation required tedious effort and examination of the records of three banks. In the American Bank and Trust Company at Richmond, Cannon had maintained two accounts during the 1928 campaign, one in his own name and the other under the name of "Anti-Smith Democrats," James Cannon, Jr., chairman, testimony divulged.

Rioting Among Prisoners At Marquette Follows Uprising; Three Identified As Gun Wielders; Probe Started

MARQUETTE, Mich., Aug. 27.—Dr. A. W. Hornbogen, acting chief physician at the Michigan State Penitentiary here, was shot and killed by three convicts today. A prison guard was shot and wounded.

Incipient riots broke out following the shooting. Marquette city police, prison guards and all law enforcement agencies were mobilized.

The three convicts who shot the prison doctor have been identified. Their names are being withheld. Warden P. Corgan declared that he feared a general uprising.

Joseph Cowling was the wounded guard. Immediate investigation to determine how the convicts obtained the revolver was ordered.

BE PREPARED ORDER SENT FROM STATE'S RELIEF COMMITTEE

Will Ask Counties To Organize Aid Committees

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27.—On the indirect advice of President Hoover, a "be prepared" order went out to every county in the state today from Governor George White's emergency unemployment relief cabinet as a part of its campaign to soften the threatened rigors of an anticipated "hard winter."

Following up its appeal to the state to "can the surplus fruits and vegetables," the relief cabinet decided to ask all of the eighty-eight counties to organize county unemployment relief committees and have them ready to carry out relief instructions which will be issued from here.

Warned by Rowland Haynes of Washington, D. C., a member of President Hoover's committee for unemployment relief, that strong local committees will be needed to meet local problems, the governor's relief cabinet announced that last year's organizations, formed in thirty counties to battle drought suffering, must be supplemented by committees in all other counties.

Counties not already equipped with relief committees were ordered to organize at once, with representatives of the county board of commissioners, the Red Cross, the American Legion, the County Health Department and the Department of Education as members.

In some counties a representative of the chamber of commerce also will be asked to serve, Adjutant General Frank D. Henderson, chairman of the governor's committee, said.

Once organized, the committees will be asked to stand ready to carry out any relief plans drafted here. Although guarding the committee's plans, Adjutant General Henderson indicated that important and sweeping moves will be made.

A full-time secretary will be employed to establish close contacts with all the various county relief organizations, it was said. Last winter most of this contact work was done by mail.

The indirect message from the president, pointing out the need of cooperation in relief work by local subdivisions, was heard with interest by Welfare Director John McSweeney, Health Director H. G. Southard, Highway Director O. W. Merrell, Agriculture Director I. S. Guthery and other members of the relief committee who were present.

The plan of a Cleveland group, asking that emergency employment be provided by installing drains and filling ditches along state and county highways, to increase safety in travel, conserve roads and supply jobs at the same time, was taken under consideration by the committee. It was indicated, will be held in a few days.

REPORT TIFFIN MAN WILL GET POSITION

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 27.—William Dore of Tiffin, young graduate of Notre Dame University at South Bend, Ind., will be appointed secretary of the new state parole board, it was reported here today.

Although the appointment has not been officially announced, Dore has been accompanying the board on its visits of inspection to various state institutions, it was said.

Dore graduated from Notre Dame only a year ago. Previous to entering Notre Dame he was a student at Heidelberg College at Tiffin where he was a star in football and track. At Notre Dame he was a member of the track squad.

Dore is a nephew of Frank T. Dore, Tiffin Democrat who is well known in state politics and frequently plays a big part in National Democratic conventions.

STIMSON VISITS AT DOWNING ST.; NEW CABINET IS ON JOB

Vacation Resumed By King As British Crisis Passes

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of State, paid an ante-breakfast visit to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald at 10 Downing St. today.

The visit, it was generally assumed, was to discuss ways and means of prolonging the "special relations" between Great Britain and the United States.

A spokesman at Downing St. said it was in the nature of a "farewell" call, and that the subject of loans to foster Britain's credit had not been discussed.

Secretary Stimson, who has enjoyed a close friendship with Premier MacDonald during the series of international conferences held during the last two years, was an interested spectator of the events leading up to the fall of the premier's Laborite ministry.

After leaving Downing St., Stimson conferred with Walter E. Dugg, American ambassador to France, who is now in London.

The British financial crisis was considered virtually at an end today as the new cabinet of co-operation settled down to its arduous task of balancing the budget.

Assurance that the crisis was at an end was seen in the fact that King George had returned to his moral Castle, Scotland, to resume a vacation hastily interrupted when the monarch was informed of the seriousness of the situation in which British finance suddenly found itself.

The cabinet, including distinguished representatives of the three principal parties, will be in almost continuous session until the next meeting September 8. Its greatest task will be to apportion increases in taxation on a public which is already the most heavily taxed in the world, paying an income tax of five shillings out of twenty.

Since the new cabinet formed by Prime Minister MacDonald after his break with other leaders of the Labor party has agreed to steer clear of controversial matters, it was expected today the proposed levying of 10 per cent tariff would not be undertaken.

Former Premier Baldwin arrived yesterday at Downing St., carrying an extra suit of clothes slung over an arm, a derby hat in one hand and a supply of tobacco in the other. He seemed prepared to spend a great deal of time in the official residence of Prime Minister MacDonald as Lord President of the council, he will lead the government forces in the house of commons.

PLANE SPEED TEAM ARRIVES FOR RACES

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—Major Ernst Udet, ranking German war ace and one of the five internationally famous European flyers to participate in the 1931 national air races here next week, was to arrive in Cleveland today from Washington.

Together with L. W. Greve, president of the air races, and Lieutenant Al Williams, noted speed flyer, the other four members of the international team which Williams recruited arrived here last night by train after being forced down at Warren, O., in a rainstorm.

AUTO SAG GIVE-AWAY

POLICE DIG UP YARD SEEKING FOUR PERSONS

Fear Chicago Widow And Children Are Murdered

PARK RIDGE, Ill., Aug. 27.—Police today dug into the grounds of the residence of Mrs. Asta Elcher, 45, of this Chicago suburb, in the fear that the widow, missing two months, may have been slain with her three children and buried there.

Meantime, a second suspect in the mystery was being sought. The man is believed to be a confederate of Cornelius Pierson, of Pearson, alleged operator of a matrimonial agency, who courted the widow with ardent love letters and was seen at her home after she and her children disappeared.

William A. McKee, village mayor, became suspicious Saturday of a man coming to take possession of the Elcher home. The man was Pierson. He has not been seen since he was questioned by H. W. Johnson, chief of police.

Chief Johnson found the Elcher home being stripped and the belongings being stored in the garage by Pierson who showed a letter, supposedly from Mrs. Elcher, authorizing him to dispose of her property. "Mrs. Elcher has gone to Colorado for a vacation," Pierson said. "I'm going to marry her. The children have been sent to Europe."

Neighbors related that he appeared here last June 22 and lived at the Elcher home a week. Mrs. Elcher left a day after he did with a few pieces of luggage without telling her friends her plans. The children remained until Pierson returned for them.

SAY PORTUGAL REVOLT ENDED

LISBON, Portugal, (by telephone to Madrid), Aug. 27.—An official communique issued here shortly after 2 p. m. today (9 a. m. E.D.T.) stated that the revolt against the dictatorship of General Carmona had been quelled and that the situation was in hand.

Casualties were officially placed at forty dead and 300 wounded. Five hundred rebels were arrested. Rumors that a "truce" had been effected between the government and rebel leaders were denied. Troops are scouring the city with orders to shoot on sight anyone seen bearing arms.

While the communique declared no disorders occurred outside of Lisbon and that no renewal of the insurrection was expected, rebel sources here declared that the revolt would be launched anew when the opportunity was ripe.

The business is housed in a small building constructed several months ago by Mr. Bradstreet. The Bradstreet home at Church and West Sts., will be occupied by a Mr. and Mrs. Smalley.

ALLEGED EX-CONVICT HELD FOR AUTO THEFT CHARGE IN XENIA

An ex-convict with many aliases who had been driving through the middle-west for more than two months in an auto stolen in Xenia working a questionable check racket for small amounts in Ohio, Indiana and Kentucky cities was finally caught by Chillicothe, O. police and returned here Wednesday.

Xenia police identified the man as R. O. Bradford, 48, West Union, O., alias O. P. Bradford, alias F. W. Moore, alias Ray White, alias Fred H. Bradford, alias George Moore alias John Miller.

Through fingerprint records police identified Bradford as an ex-convict. Received at Ohio Penitentiary in 1924, he served a prison term for forgery.

Obtaining permission to drive the car on the pretext he was a prospective buyer and wanted to try out the machine before purchasing it, Bradford drove away in the sedan June 19 and never returned, it is claimed.

Paris, Ky., and many other places. His failure to remove the dealer's license from the sedan proved his undoing. Descriptions of the man and the stolen car were sent by police to various states surrounding Ohio and Bradford was arrested at 3 a. m. Wednesday at Chillicothe through the tags on the auto.

The former convict is said to have a former wife and a daughter living at Mansfield, O.

TO RECEIVE DEGREE

Dr. William J. Madison, colored dentist, Xenia, will receive his master of science degree at Ohio State University at its summer convocation Friday. More than 500 students are in the class to receive degrees and is the largest class ever graduated at Ohio State except at a June commencement. More than half the states of the United States and five foreign countries are represented in the class.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For we all must appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.—Corinthians, v, 10.

WILL IT HELP?

Aside from any opinion regarding the general wisdom of the suggestions contained or implied in the Wiggins report, there is little difficulty about understanding that publication of it at this particular time has been the reverse of helpful in Washington and may easily cause considerable trouble everywhere.

It does not require illumination by any Washington correspondent to see clearly that the report has put a big obstacle in the way of non-political consideration and acceptance of the Hoover moratorium plan by congress.

The two sleeping dogs, Revision and Reparations and Debt Cancellation, were bound to rise themselves sooner or alter and commence to bark; but the administration and wise persons generally, hoped they could be kept quiet until the moratorium question was disposed of on its merits.

That hope is now blasted. It is beyond reason to expect that congress in a pre-presidential election year can be restrained from taking advantage of an opportunity to indulge in oratory for campaign use later on, when that opportunity is fairly thrown in the faces of its members. The impending outburst of course will be injurious to statesmanship, and to the best interests of the country and the world. But there seems to be no help for the situation.

The more perspective a person gets on the Wiggins report, the more evident it becomes that captains of international finance are not necessarily good strategists.

MAW'S PLATFORM

Maybe it sounds frivolous and "worldly" and even wicked to some solemn folk; maybe it seems callow and juvenile to superior sophisticates who have just discovered "sex appeal"; maybe it seems like a patter of idealistic delusion to unhealthy minds caught by the nonsense in Freudism, but there is sound sense just the same in the jingling "platform" of "Maw" Jones, 64-year-old mayor of Lake Milton, Ohio, who says:

"A little kissing and dancing and little hugging and romancing—That's what makes the world happy all way round."

"Maw" has not lived in vain. She has kept the memory of youth and gaiety; she knows also that what is assumed to be innocent and harmless, is likely to be innocent and harmless; whereas what is given a bad name, is likely to earn the reputation it is saddled with.

You can't stop love-making in the springtime of life; but you can avoid forcing it into dark corners.

WRATH OF THE PUBLIC

The American people are so easy going that they tolerate wrongs that might be suppressed. Sometimes, when they become thoroughly roused, they hit back in a most violent way at those who take advantage of their good nature, but it seems too bad that these revolts against evils are so jerky and spasmodic.

For instance, everyone has recently been stirred to a high pitch of wrath by an outrage committed in New York city, when bullets from a gangster automobile fatally shot one child and wounded four others. Plazhing with anger, the people call for the wiping out of the gunmen who commit such cruel deeds. All this show of wrath is fine, but it is a pity that it does not work more consistently.

Gangsters and gunmen will not be put down by sudden explosions of popular anger. They are the outgrowth of certain habits of the American people, their indifference to political corruption, their failure to take an interest in government, their absorption in their own selfish interests.

To put down the outrages of gunmen and bandits, police forces in larger cities need to be divorced from politics and the power of political pulls will have to be abolished or much reduced. When offenders escape because they have influence with some politician, conditions are created that encourage crime.

According to the Wickersham commission, and many eminent legal authorities, many changes in laws and legal procedure are needed to facilitate the trial and conviction of criminals. The speed and certainty of justice vary greatly in different states and cities, but there are many localities where it is far too easy for a criminal to escape justice. But the average run of people do not get interested in such a question. Such outbreaks of popular wrath will not put down crime. It needs an organized movement with steady pressure from influential people and organizations, to bring about the needed action.

And every time a healthy rumor regarding a special session of congress gets well under way, President Hoover up and says "No."

If more people had the financial shrewdness of Little Orphan Annie, fewer confidence men would get wealthy playing suckers.

We do not understand why modern excavators are surprised when they find that ancient historians and other writers told the truth.

The silk stocking districts of yesterday have become the bare-legged districts of today—in summer time anyhow.

The governors of Oklahoma and Texas have fought the good fight for one dollar oil, and have won.

Walter Damrosch thinks the need of the age is a giant in music. A need of the age is for a few giants sprinkled about in every walk of life.

Is it possible that the bulls are commencing to horn in on the stock market?

One moratorium not on the cards this year, is a moratorium on political hot air.

Maybe 1931 was the year that was to be summerless.

MY NEW YORK

—BY JAMES ASWELL—

AT SEA—Tomorrow morning we anchor at Cherbourg. Tonight there is the scent of clover in the air from the coast of Cornwall, undoubtedly, Bishop's Light is twinkling off the port side as I write; and Lizard Light is soon to come.

A gray little man in a tweed suit is standing on the rail or was a little while ago, looking longingly at the darkness which is England. I hear that he is a native of Cornwall and grows sentimental at this stage of his bi-annual journey to America. He hasn't been home in twenty-five years. He is an executive in a Swedish match factory, with offices in Paris.

THE ATLANTIC PRESS

There is something of a mystery about the definite English tone and make-up of the daily ship's newspaper. The Levantine paper makes one wonder whether the dailies on the English lines are edited along American journalistic lines in reciprocity. Or perhaps the gazette takes on the flavor of the New York papers during the eastbound voyage. Certainly now it is more like the Illustrated London News.

Ship newspapers have always been a source of avid interest for me since the time, years ago, when a French printer reported the score of a big-league game in Yankee Stadium as, Glants, 154, Cardinals, 765.

There are also scores of puzzling little items like this which I ran across this morning:

"Grenfell is preparing a chart of the Labrador coast, and when it is completed the country will become a great tourist resort, said the Archbishop of Westminster at the Grenfell dinner."

That's all it said.

REPRISAL

Mr. Boris Said, who is an official of the Standard Oil company, and now on his way to Soviet Russia, is the sort of trans-Atlantic commuter who has learned the trick of telling stories for lazy afternoons on deck with dramatic emphasis and color. He reports that during one crossing on a slow boat he and his wife were annoyed three night running by the boisterous parties of two young men in the stateroom adjoining. The carousers had with them a portable victrola which tinkled and screeched until four and five a. m. as a background for unrestrained conviviality.

On the fourth day after repeated requests and threats had availed nothing, Mr. Said got up early and scoured the ship until he found four victrolas and a large antique dinner gown. At ten o'clock, while the pair of merry-makers were sleeping it off, Mr. Said began his own symphony. Two hours later the young men called and begged for a truce.

The remainder of the trip was peaceful enough.

FENCES ARE UP

Most of the lines, I hear, are tightening up on the class divisions. It is almost impossible for anyone, unless it be a pulchritudinous young lady, to slip up to first class nowadays and enjoy the swimming pool, the night club and other gaudy privileges. A few years ago it was unnecessary for collegiate youngsters with dinner clothes to buy first-class passage in order to have a good time among the plutocrats of First Cabin.

Today I saw two young men who occupy one of the most expensive rooms on the boat, trying to buy, beg or browbeat their way past the gate to the Third Class accommodations—where a touring crowd of 200 young people were making merry.

ROOSEVELT-HOOVER TIFF OVER POWER QUESTION COMES TO CONFUSED END

—CHARLES P. STEWART—

WASHINGTON.—If no explanation that the average man can understand ever is forthcoming concerning the confusion over Franklin D. Roosevelt's inquiry of President Hoover as to reports of secret negotiations between the federal government and Canada on the subject of St. Lawrence river power development, and Assistant Secretary of State William R. Castle's answer to the New York executive's query, it will not be surprising.

The simplest guess would seem to be that Governor Roosevelt's question was one which Mr. Hoover preferred not to reply to very explicitly, and therefore assigned to Secretary Castle the task of sending an answer directly from the "pool" rejoinder to the governor to feel rebuffed and subsided, rather than advertise the fact that his wrist had been slapped.

Yet it is reasonable to suppose that even a politically rather unsophisticated person like the president would believe a public character of Governor Roosevelt's experience and proved ability capable of exposing himself to be dealt with so summarily without grave peril to the author of the chastisement?

Be that as it may, Mr. Hoover did turn the New Yorker's letter over to Secretary Castle and Secretary Castle answered it promptly enough; the governor wrote under date August 11 and the acting head of the state department replied under date August 13.

An official as important as a governor ordinarily considers himself entitled to an answer directly from the president; but if Mr. Hoover saw fit to administer a snub in this particular instance, of course, it was his privilege to do it through a subordinate. No obligation rested upon him, either, to announce that he had heard from the governor or that he had done anything about it.

However, the governor having proclaimed that he had written, was it strictly according to Hoyle for both the White House and the state department to deny all knowledge of his letter?

Anyway, it was an embarrassing denial for them both, for the governor, immediately countering with the threat to make his epistle public.

In Albany, if the administration continued to refrain from doing so in Washington, forced both White House and state department to admit having seen and acted on it two days previously.

It was an admission, too, which necessitated publication of the now celebrated "Dear Frank" note (the secretary and Governor Roosevelt are old acquaintances) in which the secretary assured the governor that "no negotiations (with Canada, relative to the St. Lawrence) are going on."

And this was embarrassing also, considering that on other occasions the state department had spoken of negotiations of just the sort referred to as actually in progress—though maybe they were not in progress precisely at the time Secretary Castle was writing to Albany.

Denials, as the world already knows, breed further denials and denials of denials, until now some of the most experienced White House correspondents confess that the whole affair is a hopeless Chinese puzzle to them.

As one naturally would expect, anti-administrators put the worst construction upon the jam arising from the Roosevelt letter.

They make the point that the governor is strong for plenty of public regulation (if not outright public ownership) of the power industry and doubtless wants to make sure that it is provided for in any bargain which may be struck with Canada for power utilization of the St. Lawrence, whereas the president reputedly favors a minimum of government interference in such business and conceivably seeks to keep it as untrammelled as possible in connection with whatever rights American enterprise may be able to secure, through negotiations with the Dominion, from the flow of the international waterway.

Federal officialdom, there can be no argument, technically is in the right, if it means to insist that negotiations between Washington and foreign governments are exclusively for the state department to attend to, regardless of gubernatorial hints from any quarter. Nevertheless, New York, with the St. Lawrence washing its northern border, obviously has an acute interest in whatever treaty may be drawn for harnessing its current.

Personally I do not draw uncharitable conclusions quite as positively as some critics of the contradictions which frequently characterize White House and state department assertions and denials under the present administration.

President Hoover has so many assistants, apparently with so little rating or classification among them as to responsibility, duties or authority, that I surmise they frequently tell conflicting stories as a result of perfectly honest mix-ups and misunderstandings.

It always did appear to me that one thoroughly efficient presidential private secretary, like Everett Sanders, who knew everything in Mr. Coolidge's day, was worth a whole officialdom of miscellaneous aides, each familiar with a little of this, a scrap of that and a trifle of some other item, but none of them in touch with the entire ensemble of White House policy.

Advocate Destruction of Ragweed

—By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.—

It is strange that the thousands of people who suffer torture during the hay fever season do not demand of the public health authorities destruction of the ragweed during July and early August before it begins to cause trouble.

This could be done. The plant is easily recognized and organized groups of cutters could raise most of the growth in any given territory. The procedure would not injure any other crops because ragweed grows mostly in uncultivated ground, along fences and railroad tracks. The plants are always high enough by late July to be easily cut, and if cut six inches or a foot from the ground all the pollen-bearing portion is removed. Burning the tops in a kerosene fire near the place of cutting would obviate any healing away and effectively destroy the trouble-making element.

Such a campaign organized so as to include large portions of territory could be controlled by the state boards of health with the co-operation of the local-city and county-health units. The cost might be considerable, but when the staggering economic loss entailed by hay fever is computed it would not seem great. Certainly as many as a million people are afflicted in the United States annually, and many of these are literally compelled to take enforced vacations, no matter what financial loss is involved. Besides this, count the inefficiency of all the victims during the season, and you have a bill of costs sufficient to justify a considerable outlay of effort and money.

The only attempt of this kind of which I know was that conducted in the New Orleans district several years ago. It was said to have resulted in considerable relief.

Even some privately organized effort by the hay fever patients of a community might be worth trying. I have seen people suffering the tortures of the damned from hay fever and asthma in their own homes when the vacant lots within a few yards were rank with ragweed. I have played golf with companions whose eyes and noses were dripping during the process and the whole border of their club grounds boasted a fringe of the offending plants.

In view of the fact that so little has been done in this direction, it might be worth trying.

Editor's Note: Six pamphlets by Dr. Clendinging can now be obtained by sending 10 cents in coin, for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope, to Dr. Logan Clendinging, in care of this paper, or Central Press Association, 1435 East Twelfth street, Cleveland, O. The pamphlets are: "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Femine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Boy Friends Rush Visitor In Town

—By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE—

"DEAR VIRGINIA LEE: We are three virgins who read your column and now we want your advice on our trouble."

"We usually have plenty of boy friends. Whenever a new girl comes here on a visit all of the boys quit us and rush the new girl. When she leaves they come back to us. What would you do about a case like this?"

"THREE GIRL FRIENDS."
What happens when a new boy comes to town, girls? Do you remain true to the old boy friends, or do you favor the new boy, going back to the old pals when the new boy leaves?

It's a natural thing for all of us, I guess, to drop the old friends and make a big fuss over "new blood." We doubtless are partly prompted by a feeling of hospitality. We want to show the visitor a good time. But mostly it is the spirit of adventure, the eternal quest for the mate, that makes us so interested in the stranger. New personalities intrigue us.

You will notice the same thing happens when you go away from the old home town. All the boys are set to rush you. Many a romance has started where a pretty girl from another town or a good-looking youth came to spend a few weeks.

You can't do anything about it. And you get your revenge when you are the stranger in town.

MISS C. DOLLINE: Maybe the boy of your own nationality has come to the conclusion that he wants to marry a girl who has more education than you and that accounts for his coolness. In that case better put him out of your mind.

As to the other who is not of your religion or nationality, you can see for yourself that marriage with him might not be happy because of these differences. Let matters rest awhile and see if you do not meet still another boy whom you can love and who is approved by your parents.

SIS: I cannot answer your questions in the paper. Your best course is to tell your mother everything and ask her help. Next best is to tell some woman friend of your family doctor. If you cannot do this, write me again, referring to your previous letter and enclosing a stamped envelope.

Artificial Eyelashes In Vogue

—By GLADYS GLAD—

My readers seem to have developed a mighty keen interest in artificial eyelashes of late. My desk has been literally snowed under the past few weeks by letters of inquiry about them. And since I aim to please, I shall devote today's article to a discussion of these eye-beautifying contrivances.

There are at present two varieties of artificial eyelashes. In the first type, the lashes are all fastened in the correct formation to a tiny strip of adhesive material. By means of this adhesive material the lashes are attached to the eyelids directly above the natural lashes. They must be placed carefully and correctly, so that they will appear natural. Generally, eye shadow is blended over the eyelids skillfully after the lashes have been attached to preclude any possibility of the adhesive material being noticeable. These lashes can be removed at will, and once attached usually adhere securely.

In the second type, are artificial lashes all loose and individual. And each separate hair must be attached to the tip of one of your own lashes. You pick up one of the curved hairs with a pair of tweezers dip the end of it in a special solution, and touch it to the tip of one of your own lashes, to which it will adhere. When you have adjusted all the lashes you require to form a luxuriant frame for your eyes, and then trim them to the length you desire them. It's a long and trying task, but once the lashes have all been adjusted, you will not have to bother with them for quite some time. For the wear and tear of swimming, cleansing the face, etc., does not remove them. There is a special liquid with which you may remove these lashes if you so desire.

Personally, I don't think that exaggerated and artificial lashes are in the best of taste for ordinary use. Many stage and screen actresses use them, of course. But any medium that, under the Kleigs or before the footlights, enhances the attractiveness of a star or brings her personality to the attention of the public, is admissible. Of course, I don't object to the artificial lashes for special occasions. They are, as a matter of fact, mighty effective. But I'm a big rooter for naturalness. And for ordinary occasions I far prefer the naturally luxuriant lashes that any girl can acquire through perseverance, and the nightly use of a bit of plain vaseline or castor oil.

ANSWERS TO QUERIES

Cosmetics

A. L.: You are about five pounds overweight. I think that a soft ochre shade of powder, soft orange rouge and light, vivid lipstick would blend harmoniously with your coloring.

At Legs

Phyl: It would be impossible for me to print my method of reducing and shaping fat knees, calves and ankles here. However, the process is fully outlined in my article on "Care of the Feet and Legs."

Editor's Note: While it is impossible for Miss Glad to answer beauty questions by mail, she will be happy to send you her pamphlets on "The New Figure" and "Beauty Culture," if you will write her, care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and 10 cents in coin for each, to cover cost of printing and handling. For her articles on "Care of the Hands and Nails" and "Care of the Feet and Legs," 2 cents in coin for each, and a self-addressed, stamped envelope are required. Personal questions on beauty will be answered through Miss Glad's daily column.

TWO FINED AFTER ASSAULT CHARGED

George Grall, Dayton, was fined $10 and costs for assault and his wife was fined $10 and costs for trespassing by A. E. Longstreth, Bath Twp. justice of the peace, Monday on charges preferred by William Moon, Osborn.

Mrs. Grall and her brother-in-law, Jacob Grall, Dayton, were ordered from the farm of Russell Hoagland, Osborn, father-in-law of Moon, Saturday afternoon. They returned later, accompanied by George Grall. Before reaching the farm they met Moon in an automobile. In attempting to force him from his car Moon received serious cuts on his arm by glass.

Charges of assault were filed against Jacob Grall but officers have been unable to locate him.

RED CROSS SEEKS MORE SUPPLIES

An appeal for clothing, shoes, bedding and other articles to replenish the supply closet of the Red Cross is being made by Miss Emma F. Lyon, executive secretary of the local chapter. Children's clothing and shoes and stockings are especially needed to outfit children who will start to school in September.

Donations of cans and jars will also be accepted, according to Miss Lyon. The chapter distributed 600 packets of seeds in the spring and persons receiving them are now in need of cans and jars in which to can the fruits and vegetables. Any one having donations is asked to call 923 and they will be called for.

AUTOS DAMAGED IN COLLISION ON PIKE

Two automobiles were damaged but their drivers escaped with minor injuries in a collision at the junction of the Xenia-Fairfield and the Dayton-Yellow Springs Road, northwest of Xenia, Wednesday.

When a small coupe which K. S. Pyles, driver, was delivering for E. A. Oster, dealer in Yellow Springs collided with a large cabriolet being driven north on the Fairfield Pike by Louis Heiser, 12309 Phillip Ave., Cleveland, the Heiser car was turned over in a ditch. Pyles was driving west on the Dayton-Yellow Springs highway.

The two drivers were bruised and Heiser's knee was injured. Sheriff John Baughn investigated.

NO WONDER TAXI DRIVER HEADS FOR WEST

A Xenia girl was driven to Xenia from Columbus Tuesday by an accommodating autoist who claimed he was Jacob Siegel, taxicab driver, wounded last Friday in a police-bandit street battle in New York City.

Siegel, who said he was en route from New York to California was shot in the mouth after his cab had been commandeered by police to pursue two bandits. A policeman was shot off the running board of Siegel's machine. Six persons were killed and twelve wounded in the running gun battle. Siegel, whose face was bandaged, displayed a letter in which he was guaranteed payment of $500 as compensation for his injuries. He said that he had fought over-

MOTHER FRANTIC AS BABY SUFFERS FROM ECZEMA

Resinol heals him quickly

"When my baby was a few weeks old eczema broke out on his body. I tried various treatments but none of them seemed to give him any relief. He only grew worse and cried all the time. I was almost frantic. A friend of Mother's suggested Resinol Ointment. I got a jar and in about a week's time the improvement was amazing."

INSECT ENEMIES
CONSTANT vigilance against insect enemies is one of the important duties of the gardener. Sprays and dusts are his weapons. But for effective use of these chemicals, entomologists of the Bureau of Entomology point out, the gardener must determine which of the two big classes the enemy insects belong to—whether they are chewing insects or sucking insects.

Chewing insects bite off and swallow bits of the plant tissue. Sucking insects have mouth parts that pierce the plant tissue and suck out the life juices of the plant.

The kind of insecticide to use depends on which of these two habits of feeding the insect pursues.

Just a word of caution to the gardener in the use of sprays. He should always have a good reason for spraying. Insecticides are seldom if ever beneficial to the plant itself. Improperly prepared they are sometimes too strong for tender foliage and delicate flowers, and injure them.

Sometimes it is difficult to control the insect and at the same time not injure the beauty of the blooms.

Insecticides are beneficial only in that they remove the destructive pests with least damage to the plants. It is best not to spray unless the insect is a real danger or is caught actually damaging the plant.

If there are only a few plants to protect, it is preferable to pick off the infested leaves or to remove and kill the insects by hand.

minutes, and then allowed him to drive away.

"I drove to the nearest intersection," Lynch asserted, "where I found a sign post indicating I was just north of Kankakee, Ill. I turned around and headed for Chicago, but I got so drowsy I couldn't drive any longer. Finally, I went to the home of a friend and asked him to take me home."

He declined to give the friend's name.

When Lynch drove up to his castle-like home, it was learned from a caretaker, his wife was outside waiting for him. Stringent measures were taken to keep intruders away from the grounds.

Not waiting for the car to stop, the hazy kidnaper victim stumbled out of the front seat and rushed into her arms.

"Dear! I'm so glad it's over," he cried.

"It's been terrible," she answered, embracing him. "Please don't go away again. It's been too much."

"For five days," he related, "I didn't know where I was. When they forced me to get out of my car and enter their machine last Thursday my glasses were knocked off. I was driven for many hours. Finally I was deposited in a room."

During his captivity, Lynch explained, he was constantly forced to wear a blindfold.

"Not a soul talked to me," the gambler continued, "with the exception of a man who informed me that my meals were waiting for me. I was never beaten or intimidated."

Lynch was asked if the Al Capone mob or any accomplices of the gang czar were implicated in the abduction.

"Positively not! I can assure you that Capone had nothing to do with this,"

Lynch said he believed there were four men in the abduction gang. He said he was given to understand they wanted $1,000,000 for his release.

"Did you have a million dollars?" he was asked.

"No. They found that out, and that's probably the reason why they let me go."

In telling of the actual kidnapping the turfman said he was traveling toward his Lake Geneva home a week ago when a car drove up alongside, swerved across the path of his car and forced him to stop.

Two men jumped out of the machine and dragged him from his auto, knocking off his glasses. And another man came up behind Lynch and put on a blindfold.

In spite of Lynch's insistence that Capone was not involved, Pat Roche, chief investigator for state's Attorney John Swanson, today continued his search for the gang czar.

Capone was in a peculiar position. Responding to entreaties of Lynch's friends, he pledged his entire gangland power to obtain the turfman's release. Then Roche threw water on his "good Samaritan" act.

It had been understood that Capone engineered a deal whereby $50,000—instead of $250,000—had been paid for Lynch's freedom. This $50,000, according to underworld reports, was to be supplied by Marty Guilfoyle, big time gambler and friend of Lynch.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a more movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul. Skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up."

They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Beware of substitutes. 25c at all stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

RAIN MARS OUTING; DAYTON POLICEMAN TAKES PISTOL CUP

Many Contestants In Events At Keiter's
Sugar Grove

Although rainy weather held down the attendance, more than 700 sportsmen, their families and friends enjoyed the annual picnic of the Greene County Fish and Game Protective Association at D. H. Keiter's sugar grove, south of Xenia, Wednesday.

Intermittent rainfall during the day, particularly in the forenoon, did not mar the program which included rifle, pistol and revolver shooting contests and other events for men and women. Several contests were cancelled. The contestants competed for cash prizes amounting to nearly $75.

A picnic dinner was enjoyed at noon and luncheon was also served on the grounds. The high spot of the afternoon program of entertainment was the second annual Xenia police trophy match for the police cup that is held by the winner for one year only but if won three years in succession he is retained permanently.

With nineteen entrants in the match, the winner this year was Sergeant W. J. Aldredge, of the Dayton police department. Considered probably the best all-around marksman of the department whose score was 58 out of a possible 60 points.

D. E. Martin, Xenia, who won the pistol match last year when the trophy was first put into circulation, was tenth this year with a score of 34 out of 60 points.

Sergeant Aldredge, easily the outstanding shot in the group in this year's cup competition, has fired in the national police matches at Camp Perry, O. and is the possessor of many medals, cups and other trophies.

While the police cup, if won by a non-resident of Greene County, cannot be removed from this county, the Dayton sergeant's name will be engraved on the cup and the trophy will remain at police headquarters here until the annual outing next year.

Under rules governing the match, six shots are fired, rapid fire, in twenty-four seconds, from a distance of twenty-five yards at regulation police target. Only revolvers or pistols, caliber .38 or larger, limited to a six-inch barrel, can be used.

Aldredge fired his six shots in 21.4 seconds. His nearest competitors were C. O. Rolston and C. D. Raynard, who both scored 49 points out of a possible 60. Scores recorded in the match follow: W. J. Aldredge, 58; C. O. Rolston, 49; C. D. Raynard, 49; L. Thomas, 47; Peter Shagin, 45; Perry D. Swindler, 45; G. W. Dun, 44; W. H. Taylor, 44; H. S. Buckwalter, 38; L. E. Martin, 34; I. M. Williams, 33; O. H. Cornwell, 32; Ed. S. Foust, 32; W. H. Leenhower, 29; J. C. Denham, 28; L. A. Davis, 26; H. J. Leaming, 24; E. Jayson Carder, 20; Oscar Pidgeon, 12.

Following is a list of the winners in the various other events that made up the day's program of sports:

Trap Shoot No. 1—John Cyphers, first; H. McClure, second; Coffelt, third.

Trap Shoot No. 2—John Cyphers, first; G. Strayer, second; Coffelt, third.

Trap Shoot No. 3—H. McClure, first; P. V. Oates, second; H. E. Spahr, third.

Woman's Guessing Contest—Mrs. J. Beason, first.

COMMUNITY PICNIC
EARNED NEAR $200

Net profit realized from the annual community picnic held under the joint auspices of the Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs in Shawnee Park last July 22 amounted to $194.58, according to a financial report submitted by Charles A. Bone, treasurer, to V. A. Moll, general chairman of the joint committee in charge of the affair.

Proceeds from the benefit celebration, after expenses are paid, are annually devoted to the park maintenance fund.

The financial statement itemizes all receipts accruing and expenditures incurred in connection with the picnic.

PAINTERSVILLE AND MT. TABOR WIN GAMES AT NEW JASPER PARTY

Paintersville Famous Autos and Mt. Tabor Flyers were winners in a double-header staged as a feature of a softball jamboree and lawn fete at New Jasper Wednesday evening.

With a fair-sized throng of fans on hand, the Paintersville softballers inaugurated the festivities by defeating the Red Wings of the National League by a score of 5 to 1 in seven innings. "Atlas" Smith outpitched "Pino" Perrine. Lee Ruse, who played the latter part of the contest in short field for the Xenia team, scored the only run for the Red Wings in the sixth.

In the second half of the double encounter the Mt. Tabor Flyers gathered a grand total of twenty-five hits and swamped the New Jasper team, 15 to 5, in a five-inning tilt halted by darkness. The diamond was made slippery by rain. Every Mt. Tabor player hit safely at least once and scored one or more runs. Thomas pitched for the Flyers and Ramsey tolled for New Jasper. A lawn fete followed the softball entertainment. Scores of the two games by innings:

Paintersville 0 4 0 1 0 x 5
Batteries—Red Wings: Perrine

LANG CONTEST WITH PAINTS CALLED OFF

The Lang Chevrolets, 1930 city softball champs and prospective 1931 champions, had one excuse, and probably only one to offer for not clinching the current National League title at Cox Field Wednesday night.

The allils of the Chevrolets was an iron-clad and unimpeachable one, however. You see it rained more or less constantly all day long and wet grounds made it impossible for the Lang softballers to engage in a scheduled league game with the Graham Paints.

The untimely intervention of rainy weather, forcing cancellation of the contest, means the Chevrolets must wait, at least until Friday night, to clinch the title. They may not be able to do the trick then because the Red Wings will provide the opposition and the third-placers conceivably might upset the league leaders.

There will be a game at Cox Field Thursday night between the Downtowners and the Critterion.

Bowling

The 1931-32 bowling season opened informally Wednesday night when a handpicked Xenia quintet defeated an all-star Springfield team by 120 pins in an inter-city match on the Recreation alleys here.

The Xenia combination, consisting of Hollis Peterson, Howard Brickel, Jess Anderson, Howard Donley and Earl Gannon, tallied 2,731 pins, rolling games of 960, 853 and 918. Springfield's three-game total was 2,611. Brickel had a series of 556 for Xenia and Lapp was high for the visitors with 556.

A doubles match was also rolled and Brickel and Peterson paired together to beat the Springfield twoman combination of Lapp and Beakes by ninety pins. Recording games of 419, 356 and 355, the Xenia pair had a combined total of 1,160 as against 1,070 for its opponents. Peterson turned in a series of 823. Match scores follow:

Riders of the range are due for a shock. Silver Harr, an timer, says the best cowboys in the world live in Hollywood.

fr. Harr, who represents the 33rd annual convention of the National Association of Actors, says he can muster 100 "top riders." "Punching cows is hard, some work and the pay is high," he explained. "When a rider gets to be good he comes to Hollywood. Here he takes his chances, but he gets more money for it."

The return of the Western has brought prosperity back to these Hollywood cowboys. One by one they are coming back from the mid-West shows, the ranges, or sional he lists George O'Brien as first. And he thinks Tom Keene, an organization of film riders, is a top-notch boy. It is a laugh, perhaps, that these film riders hold their club meetings in the Hollywood Conservatory of Music.

Those last dramatic days of the New York World are to be the inspiration of a talking film. For some time Edward Dean Sullivan has been working on the idea for Metro. Now the story is almost finished and will be called "The Old Man." The leading character, which fictional, will have many of the qualities of Joseph Pulitzer.

Lionel Barrymore is said to be a sure choice for the role of the fighting publisher and rumors cast Robert Montgomery as the frivolous son who unexpectedly steps in and saves the paper. Sullivan is an old World man. He has written two sensational books, "Rattling the Cup" and "Chicago Surrenders." Since turning to the films he has contributed "Hell-bound", one of the season's hits among the gangster films.

on whatever occupation they engaged to find when the talkies lined their livelihood. In those days, Harr, ironically enough, was even to selling insurance for automobiles.

Except for the fortunate few who have become proprietors of riding academies, the Hollywood cowboy can't own his own horse. It could be too difficult to get the animal to location. But he thinks nothing but riding and he hangs it with his own clan in certain rendezvous.

He also expresses frank opinions of the Western stars of the screen, according to Harr, Will Rogers and Larry Carey are the cowboys' idols, and they have just as strong dislike for certain exchange riders who now want to be "master-ed," for the synthetic Western star backed by the studio for his good looks. If he isn't regular they lay it on him in the chase scenes and amp him so expertly the director never can be sure.

Ken Maynard is the best rider among the cinema Western heroes, says Harr. Among the non-profes-

SECOND OHIO SIGHT-SAVING SCHOOL TO OPEN AT CEDARVILLE

With about sixteen children, the maximum number permitted, enrolled for the school term, the second sight saving school for rural counties of Ohio will be established in the Cedarville High School building, the class convening September 7, according to H. C. Aultman, county school superintendent. Final arrangements for the school, the object of which is to provide proper training for the child with imperfect vision and afford him the same opportunities as the pupil with normal sight, were completed Wednesday.

Cooperating with Mrs. Pearl Wittenmyer, county public health nurse, Mrs. Shively, of the state department of education, and Miss Snyder, of the state blind commission, were in Greene County interviewing parents, canvassing the list of prospects for the new school, providing for their transportation, and if necessary, their board. Tuition will be paid by the school districts where the pupils live.

It is anticipated that the school may also partly serve the needs of several surrounding communities, including Selma, Jeffersonville, South Solon and possibly Washington C. H.

A room in the Cedarville school building will be prepared with special equipment at an estimated cost of $1,500, including lighting fixtures, seats, text books and typewriters. All expenses, including the salary of special teacher, will be paid by the state. The state also pays the expense of transportation of pupils to Cedarville or of boarding them there if necessary.

The special teacher for the class has not yet been selected. The teacher, who must have special training, will be employed by the Cedarville school board on recommendation of the state department. It will be the duty of the instructor to assist students prepare their lessons and they will recite with the regular classes, thus preventing segregation. The state permits one teacher, teaching all eight grades, to have a maximum of sixteen pupils. Enrollment in the class is limited because the children require so much individual attention in the mixed grades. Five of the pupils enrolled will be from Xenia city. Special text books in large 24-point type, six 300-watt electrical lamps for use on dark days and a typewriter printing bulletin type are included in the school's equipment.

This form of special instruction for handicapped children has been neglected in most states. There are only 371 schools of this nature in the United States and only ten states make provision for sight-saving classes. The other school in a rural Ohio county is in Ottawa.

The school, originally offered to Xenia and then transferred to Cedarville when arrangements were not made for establishing it here, was obtained through the efforts of Supt. Aultman and Mrs. Wittenmyer.

"TOASTING" expels SHEEP-DIP BASE naturally

(Black, biting, harsh irritant chemicals)

present in every tobacco leaf

"They're out—so they can't be in!"

Every LUCKY STRIKE is made of the finest tobacco leaves the world can offer—the finest from Turkey—the finest from Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, Georgia and the Carolinas—the Cream of many Crops throughout the world. But all tobacco leaves, regardless of price and kind, as nature produces them, contain harsh irritants. LUCKY STRIKE'S exclusive "TOASTING" Process—a process that mellows, that purifies, that includes the use of the modern Ultra Violet Ray—expels certain harsh irritants naturally present in every tobacco leaf. We sell these expelled irritants to manufacturers of chemical compounds, who use them as a base in making sheep-dip*, as well as a powerful spraying solution for trees, flowers and shrubs—enough to permit the daily dipping of over 50,000 sheep or the daily spraying of many thousands of trees. Thus, you are sure these irritants, naturally present in all tobacco leaves, are not in your LUCKY STRIKE. "They're out—so they can't be in!" No wonder LUCKIES are always kind to your throat.
